

Sales Report for the XPTO Company

Hi John Doe, this document's purpose is to provide insights in profits from the XPTO company. It is expected that those insights provide valuable information regarding company's performance.

Starting off, we should say that our most successfull type of product is office supplies. The category of electronics had a bad performance, although it reached a good profit.

Following the above chart, there is this one, which displays exactly how much profit each material related to the aforementioned categories made.

